Preneur Network

Don´t let your age stand in the way of your vision, but take advantage of your unique boomer preneur network.

When you think for a minute about potential new digital entrepreneurs in your entire preneur network, probably you are thinking about “gurus” like Mark Zuckerberg. The truth, however, is that the most important group when it comes to creating new ventures, is found among the ages of 55-64 years. This is the typical baby boomer group.

The number of boomers starting their own business is so important that even the word “boomerpreneurs” has been created. It has been estimated that this growth of boomers re-inventing themselves to become a self-employed entrepreneur will continue at least for the next 25 years.

So, if you are a baby boomer trying to balance life and business, you are not alone.

Before the digital era became a reality in our lives, a lot of boomers had a fear of starting something new at their age, as it frequently requires significant investments. Today that situation has changed completely and for a couple of hundred dollars, anyone can start their own business online.

The next hurdle uses to be the scarcity about the new technology.
